

Olive Award 2024- Theme: Inclusive Education

The Olive Award is presented to a teaching team that best succeeds in offering inclusive education.

Objective: To demonstrate appreciation for the work carried out by lecturers and to draw attention to their contribution to quality education. Inspiring other lecturers. The (new) format also enables the university of applied sciences to draw attention to the strength of a highly collaborative team.

Prize: The jury award for the winning team is Euro 1.000,- to be spent on literature, and Euro 2.500,- to be spent on an activity carried out together with students in the professional field/at a social organisation. The Public Award for the winning team is Euro 500,- to be spent on literature.

NB: The awarded prize money must be spent in 2025 based on the objectives described above.

Selection: A maximum of three teams can be submitted by each faculty. If there are more than three eligible teams within a faculty, the faculty selects which teams are submitted to the expert jury.

The expert jury will then select three teams from the teams submitted. These three teams present their work (via a short movie) during THiNK FeST on Thursday the 7th of November (while the other teams receive an honourable mention). The jury selects a winner and a Public Award (by students and staff) is presented.

The following must be provided for each team nominated:

Title of team
Faculty(ies)
Name of contact person
Phone number
Email address

1. A product with an explanation why your team deserves the Olive Award 2024. Show us how you have worked or collaborated as a team. Refer to the criteria used by the professional jury (see below) in their assessment.
 2. Recommendations from:
 - a. Students
 - b. Colleagues, not on the nominated team
 - c. Program Manager
-

Criteria for the jury and points for recommendations:

Professional jury

The professional jury, preferably consisting of a member of the Executive Board, a lecturer, an educational consultant, a student and a member of the previous year's winning team.

The professional jury will announce the criteria as soon as possible.

What do you pay attention to when providing a recommendation?

Students

- The teachers and/or the professional field regularly seek our feedback to better meet our needs.
- The product contributes significantly to personal and/or professional development.
- During education, we engage in various working methods with other students.

Colleagues

- The team introduces innovative learning activities/methods for the program, developed or provided in collaboration with the professional field, and implements them.
- The team collaborates and actively shares knowledge.

Program Manager

- The team introduces innovative learning activities/methods for the program, developed or provided in collaboration with the professional field, and implements them.
- The team collaborates and actively shares knowledge.
- The team demonstrates good student outcomes.

Submissions must be received by the expert jury by 19 September 2024. Nominations with the required input can be sent by e-mail via management team to prijzenparade@hhs.nl stating: Nomination for Olive Award 2024

Questions can be sent to prijzenparade@hhs.nl